

TV show comes home to Boston

In honor of the show's 30th anniversary, "This Old House" went back to Boston to renovate a house where the show first began. The crew of the popular remodeling PBS program teamed up with local nonprofit Nuestra Comunidad to completely gut and renovate a foreclosed property in Roxbury. Mayor Thomas M. Menino stopped by yesterday to congratulate the cast and crew for a job well done. ● METRO